

Frankfort Family Reena Residence

A New Affordable Housing Project
for People with Disabilities in Toronto

Since 1973, Reena has been providing supportive housing, programming and employment services for individuals with diverse needs including autism and mental health challenges.

Housing remains one of the most challenging issues facing individuals with disabilities and their families.

12,000 people with developmental disabilities in Ontario are waiting for specialized housing.

As a sector leader in housing development and innovation, Reena is once again stepping up to fulfill community needs with a new housing project.

The Frankfort Family Reena Residence

This new building will be modeled on the success of the Reena Community Residence and the Lou Fruitman Reena Residence. These housing models enhance quality of life, while saving Ontario millions of dollars.

Reena Community Residence

- Opened in 2012
- Home to 84 adults with developmental, physical and/or mental health needs
- Innovative, leading model of integrated housing and support services for adults with disabilities in North America

Lou Fruitman Reena Residence

- Opened in 2021
- Home to 137 residents with diverse needs
- Includes an entire floor of programming spaces – the Azrieli Hub
- Has increased supports designed to serve people with mental health issues
- Provides accessibility with 24/7 resources

Momentum for the $75 Million project is building....

The current waitlist for specialized housing in Ontario is 30 – 40 years.

A housing model that provides independence, affordability and accessibility while at the same time has 24/7 resources is a life changing opportunity for many families.

Thanks to the leadership of the Frankfort Family, we have an opportunity to accelerate this project and break ground in the Fall of 2023.

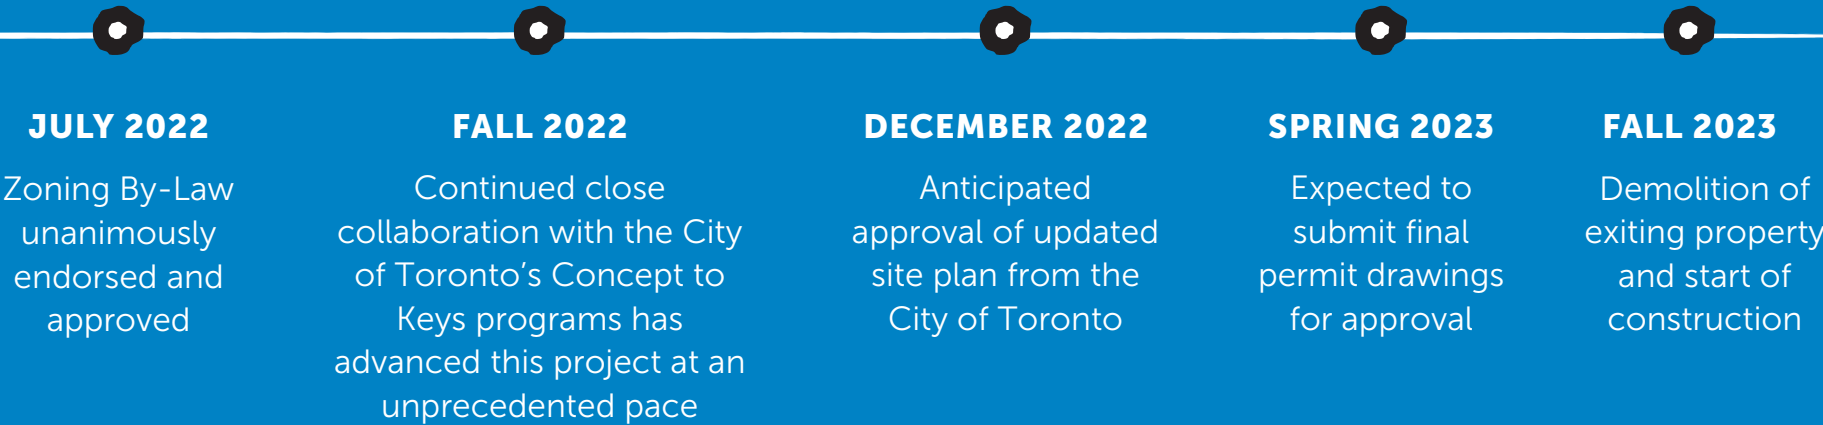

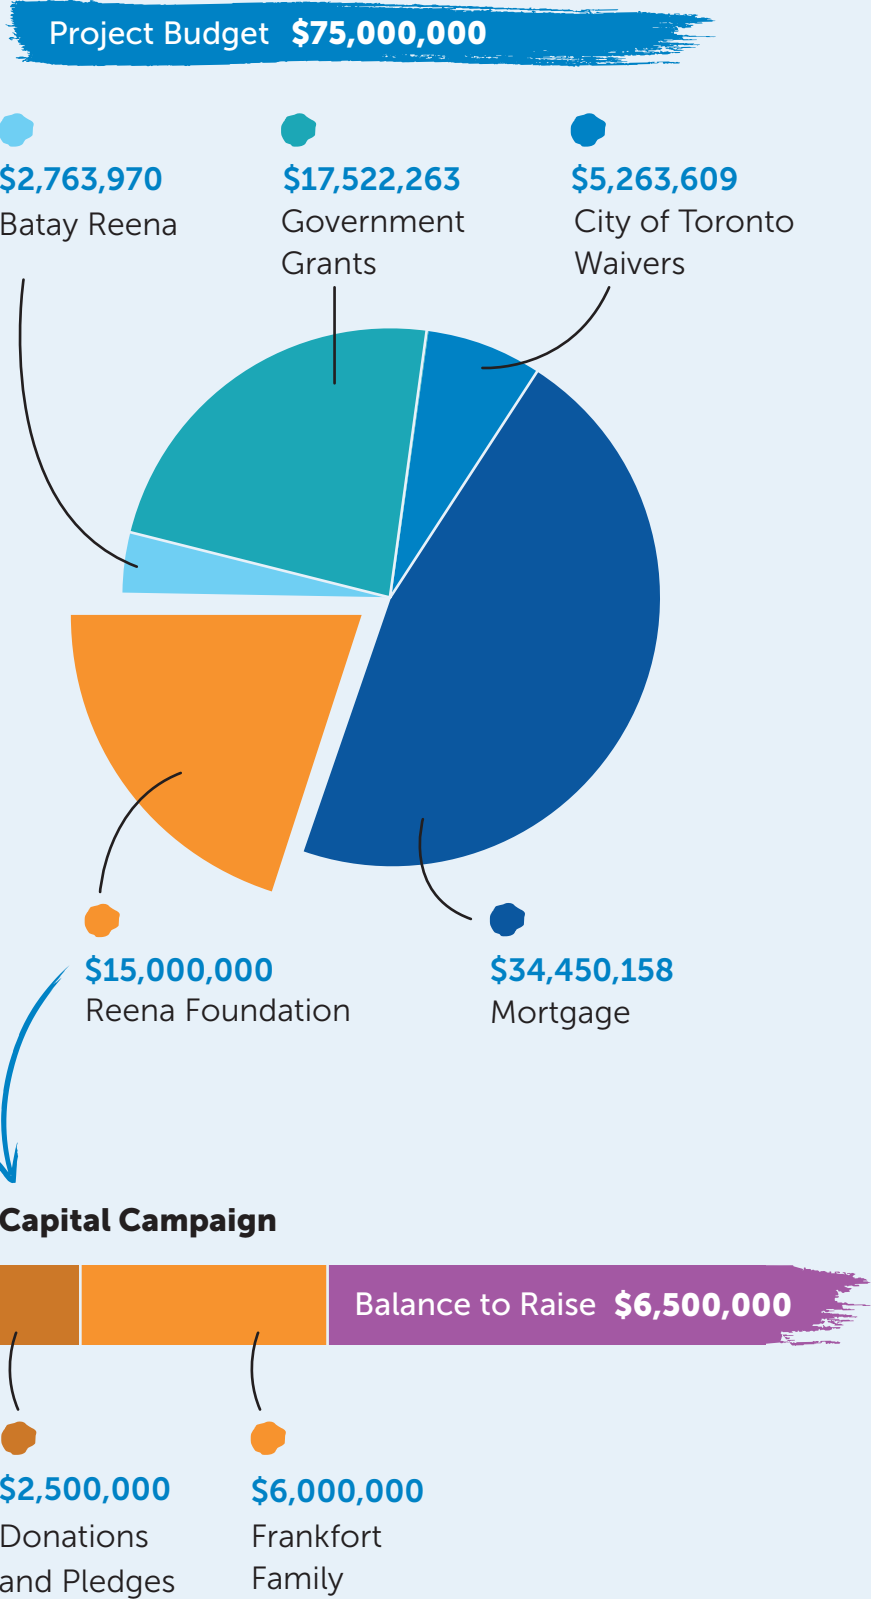

“We are proud to support Reena’s newest residential project that will help address the urgent need for specialized housing in our community. This project will be life changing for people with disabilities and their families and we are honoured to be involved.”
